France Is Resolute

Naval Force Will Not Permit the Sultan to Dally any Longer.

Russia Is in Complete Accord With the Move in Progress.

Later Reports However Say the Squadron Has Returned to Toulon.

Paris, Oct. 31.—The decision to make a naval demonstration against Turkey was taken at a meeting of the cabinet on Tuesday, at which M. Delecluse, minister of foreign affairs, explained the Sultan's procrastination regarding the French demands.

Admiral Caillaud's squadron consists of the armored cruisers Admiral Potin, Chanzy and Latouche Treville, the second-class cruisers Du Chayla and Cassard, and third-class cruiser Galilee. The crews aggregate 3,286 men, but the vessels will also carry landing parties.

The Journal des Debates says: "Everyone at Constantinople and the other capitals must be aware that France and Russia are completely in accord in this matter. Under these circumstances it is difficult to believe that the Ottoman government will not come to its senses and recognize its error before it is too late, relieve us of the necessity of using other means than those of diplomacy and courteous discussion."

La Liberté remarks that the fact that Admiral Caillaud has embarked 2,000 marines is a warning to the Porte that France will not stop before a slight show of resistance, but will go to the end even though war should ensue.

Washington, Oct. 31.—M. Margerie, the charge of the French embassy here, had a short interview with Secretary Hay this afternoon, after which the secretary at once left for the White House. M. Margerie feels confident that there is not the slightest danger of dissolution of the concordat owing to the action of the French government in sending warships to make a naval demonstration in Turkish waters, and to seize a customs post. The other nations parties to the Concordat, understand the situation perfectly, and in fact most of them have grievances and claims themselves like the French, and so they may look with complacency upon the effort to make the Porte meet its obligations. There also is a precedent for this action for a few years ago Austria seized a Turkish port in the Gulf of Alexandria and held it until her claims were paid, yet the incident did not cause a protest by the other powers, nor even attract much attention. It is confidently expected that it will not be necessary for the French admiral to proceed to any great length before the Turks will meet his demands.

Paris, Nov. 1.—A despatch from Toulon to the Figaro confirms the report of the return of the entire French squadron, and adds that Admiral Caillaud's division is still held in readiness to sail at a moment's notice.

Editorially, the Figaro and other morning papers express surprise at this perplexing and unexplained move after the despatch of Admiral Caillaud to the Levant had been officially announced. The Marsilles correspondent of the Martin says the return was due to the fact that the squadron was supplied with only two days rations.

WESTMINSTER INVENTOR

New Westminster, Oct. 31.—John Kellogg, of this city, who recently invented and patented an automatic machine for welding salmon cans, has sold the patent rights for this specific purpose for Alaska and Pacific states, to the Alaska Packers' association, for an amount well up in the thousands. Ten of these machines operated on the Fraser last season and gave great satisfaction. The owner proposes pushing the adaptation of the patent to other businesses.

ANOTHER CRISIS.
 Venezuela Has Another Cabinet Trouble on Hand.

Willemstadt, Island of Curacao, Oct. 31.—Advices received here from Caracas say that a cabinet crisis is expected there as a result of the wedding of the answer of the President of Venezuela to the resolution adopted by the pan-American congress, expressing the hope that Venezuela and Colombia would reach an equitable agreement regarding their present difficulty. The reply was sent against the wishes of the Venezuelan cabinet.

Colon, Oct. 31.—The Venezuelan troops at Tacahira have been ordered to withdraw, according to the latest advices received here from Barranquilla, where the aggression of Venezuela is waning. The Colombian government, however, continues to strengthen its position at Rio Hacha. Four thousand troops guard the Colombian frontier and 1,500 troops have been sent to Antioquia.

John Morley On The War

Liberal Member Attacks the Government For Conduct of the Campaign.

And Says Leaders of a "More Pliant Mind" Are Needed.

London, Oct. 31.—John Morley, M.P., addressing his constituents today at Arbroath, said: "The government are aggravating the essential mischief of the situation in South Africa by their management of the concentration camps. The death rate of children, measure as you will, is hideous, excessive and appalling. The policy of devastation has been admitted to be a mistake. I wonder what Lord Palmerston would have said of a government justifying themselves by saying that Russia in Poland and Austria in Bosnia had done something like the same thing. The war is entirely changed in character and is drifting into a war of extermination of a people fighting for their own land."

"The policy of unconditional surrender and submission means extermination and annihilation. The present attitude of the government is one of sullen desperation. There is nothing more to be gained by a blind horse. The King will, perhaps at no distant date, have to seek other ministers with a better insight and a more pliant mind in face of the dangerous and complex situation which confronts the country."

A QUESTION OF JURISDICTION

Right of Judge Henderson to Hold Supreme Court Chambers in Vancouver.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Vancouver, B.C., Oct. 31.—The question of the jurisdiction of County Court Judge Henderson to sit in Supreme court chambers came up this morning before Mr. Justice Martin who stated that the proper way to decide the question was to bring it up as a test case on Tuesday next, when the Full court sits here. He thought the Full court would have the case placed at the head of the list of appeals so as to have the question speedily settled. Mr. Justice Martin said it was his present opinion that County Court Judge Henderson possesses jurisdiction as a local Supreme court judge to sit in chambers. In the discussion this morning L. G. McPhillips, K. C., argued that Judge Henderson had not the jurisdiction. Mr. Justice Martin refused to hear chamber cases, and litigation is much delayed.

LIGHT ON HOME.
 Gets a Splendid Reception from Friends and Neighbors.

London, Oct. 31.—Immediately after his arrival in London today, Sir Thomas Lipton drove out to his suburban residence at Southgate. An assemblage of friends and neighbors met him about two miles from the house with a band, unharnessed the horses and drew the carriage home. Responding to an address of welcome presented in behalf of the village of Southgate, Sir Thomas said he had hoped to drink from the cup in Southgate, but it had stuck in spite of the jerk he had given it. I mean to lift it yet, he said in conclusion.

PLAGUE IN GLASGOW.
 Four Cases Found in a Hotel.

Glasgow, Oct. 31.—The bubonic plague has re-appeared here during the week. Four suspected cases were removed from the Central Station hotel, belonging to the Caledonian railway, and one died today. The hotel has been closed, and the cases have been removed.

It appears that all the cases under suspicion are servants of the hotel. An examination of the bacteria proves conclusively that the disease is the bubonic plague. The municipal authorities, in notice announcing the fact, urge all householders to destroy rats.

Result of Provincial Bye-Elections in Quebec—A Lively Whale.

Toronto, Oct. 31.—Col. Dent, who is in the city, says that since March he has shipped 6,400 horses from Canada to South Africa, and will ship 800 next month and 800 in December.

James Henry Lewis was today indicted for manslaughter. Lewis is a Christian Scientist, and his child died of diphtheria. The Crown alleges the child's death was caused by lack of proper medical attention.

Montreal, Oct. 31.—The Quebec provincial bye-elections took place today. In Drummondville, J. Laferty, government candidate was elected by 775 majority. In Quebec county, Dease, government candidate, was elected by 290. In Vaudreuil, Pilon, government candidate, was also elected. All defeated candidates are Liberals, no Conservatives being nominated.

A whale, which yesterday invaded Montreal harbor, still lives. It is stranded on a rock outside the guard pier, near the Victoria bridge, and it is estimated the spot was visited by 10,000 people during the day, many of whom saw a whale spout for the first time. Dozen attempts were made during the day to kill the whale, but the shots were fired at it with rifles, but when the sun went down the whale was still alive. It is expected it will be killed tomorrow.

The directors of the Dominion Cotton company met today and decided to pass the half yearly dividend. The effect had been discounted on the stock market. The company has been paying 6 per cent. annually. The cause for not declaring a dividend was that as extensive improvements have been made to the property, and a large debt incurred, the directors consider it better to pass the dividend and use the money towards wiping out the debt.

Port William, Ont., Oct. 31.—A stabling affray took place at Port Arthur last night and resulted in a man being in the hospital with a knife wound in the side about three inches long. A disagreement while drinking beer and playing cards with other Italians was the cause of the stabbing. The assailant is now in custody.

SCHLEY INQUIRY.
 Investigation of United States Naval Court Still Drags Along.

Washington, Oct. 31.—In the Schley court of inquiry today a number of witnesses were introduced by Judge Advocate Lemley, to testify in rebuttal of the evidence given in Admiral Schley's behalf. The court decided early in the day that no witnesses could be introduced at this stage of the proceedings to give testimony on immaterial points. This announcement was made in connection with an effort to prove a conversation on board the Massachusetts, in which Lieut. Sears, who was Admiral Schley's chief lieutenant, was alleged to have said: "For God's sake, don't discourage him! (meaning Commodore Schley). It is all that we have been able to do to work him up to this!" It had the effect of interrupting the testimony of Lieut. Sears. Lieut. Commander Grant, Lieut. Commander Porter and other officers of the Massachusetts, who had been called to testify concerning this conversation with Mr. Sears. On the other hand, the court held that it was not bound by the ordinary proceedings in civil courts as to the time when the testimony can be taken and that witnesses might be called or recalled any time for the purpose of making additions to former statements, but that none of them could reiterate testimony previously given. This decision was rendered upon an objection raised by Mr. Lemley to allowing Capt. Sigbee to give new testimony when called as a witness for rebuttal purposes. The witnesses called in rebuttal were Capt. Charles D. Sigbee, Capt. Francis E. Chadwick, Capt. Joseph E. Eaton, Lieut. John H. Toys and Chief Quartermaster Anderson, all of whom testified to incidents connected with the campaign of 1898. Capt. Chadwick in his statement today, said that the precautionary despatches from the navy department in regard to attacking the Spanish shore batteries had not been communicated to Commodore Schley. This statement is regarded of great importance by Admiral Schley's opponents as it distinctly contradicts the Admiral's own statements.

C. P. R. VERY BUSY.
 Mr. Thomas Tait Speaks of the Improvements and Increase in Traffic.

Vancouver, B.C., Oct. 31.—(Special).—Thos. Tait, manager of transportation of the C. P. R., arrived today. Mr. Tait said the C. P. R. would next summer continue the regular train as well as the Imperial Limited. This was owing to heavy pressure put on the Imperial Limited this year owing to popularity of the service. He said Manitoba was at present a hive of industry, and threshing machines and harvesters are everywhere. While the big rush lasted the C. P. R. was handling 400,000 bushels of wheat per day, for which farmers got $200,000 a day. The railway company, he said, had great expectations of Kootenay when the Rossland strike is settled and the price of lead increased. In the Boundary country the increased output of ore means that the C. P. R. are ordering new engines and getting ready for a large increase of business.

ATTACKED BY BOLOMEN.
 United States Detachment Have Skirmish and Lose Two Killed.

Manila, Oct. 31.—Advices just received here from Cagayan de Iba, Island of Samar, say that 12 men of Company G, of the 19th infantry, under command of Sergt. Wilford, who had been sent from Bagay to San Antonio to investigate and report in regard to the number of bolomen in the vicinity, were attacked by 140 insurgents, who rushed on them with great violence, killing two of the soldiers and wounding two others. Wilford remained cool and collected during the attack and the survivors say acted splendidly; 14 of the insurgents were killed. Capt. Bookmiller, of Company G, recommends Wilford for a medal of honor, and Privates Swanton and Vero for certificates of merit.

The situation is critical. The employers are strongly inclined to resort to a general lock-out.

PIAPOT IN JAIL.
Famous Northwest Indian Imprisoned for Two Months.

Regina, Oct. 31.—The well known Indian Chief Piapot and one of his band are at present inmates of the Regina jail. It appears that about a couple of weeks ago the Indians on Piapot's reserve were holding one of their medicine dances, when they were interfered with by the N. W. M. P. Piapot objected to the interference, and took action to defend what the Indians claim is one of their sacred rights. Whether this was the cause of the arrest is not quite clear at present. It is reported the Indians have been bringing horses from the United States, without paying the taxes duties. Piapot will remain in jail for two months, and his follower for six months.

CHANNEL GALES.
Fierce Easterly Gale Blowing Off English Coast.

Dover, Oct. 31.—A fierce easterly gale has been blowing today over the whole Channel, dislocating shipping. The Channel steamers were obliged to abandon attempts to enter the port of Folkestone, which was not approachable on account of the tremendous seas running. A number of minor wrecks have been reported and several vessels have sunk at their moorings. The wind gauge registered 60 miles an hour, the tide is rising and vessels of all kinds are seeking shelter from the storm. A great number of carcases of animals are washing ashore in the vicinity of Deal, indicating that a shipping disaster has occurred near there.

London, Oct. 31.—The Royal yacht Ophir and the escorting warships counter the full force of the severe easterly gale blowing today over the Channel, and were forced to abandon their intention to put into Portland roads, which was a great disappointment to the crowds lining the coast.

Says He Did Not Send Words Printed by National Review.

London, Oct. 31.—Gen. Buller, speaking today to a reporter of the London Evening News regarding the telegram to Gen. White attributed to him by the National Review, said: "That is not my telegram."

Gen. Buller threatens to blossom into a British Bonanza. He does not appear to court privacy or to discountenance demonstrations. He attended a theatre in London yesterday evening, and when recognized was cheered. He rose to his feet and bowed his acknowledgment. Outside the building Gen. Buller was mobbed by cheering crowds, and the police had to be called in to clear the streets.

A temporary structure has been erected in place of the destroyed Chien Yen tower, under which Emperor Kowang will pass when he will enter the Forbidden city. It is painted to resemble the old stone tower, with cannon in the windows, and looks like a piece of theatrical scenery. Every effort is being made to conceal from the court the evidence of conquest. The British loop-holed the wall at the station outside Chien Yen gate, and the Chinese are now building another wall outside this to hide it from the view of the court. Prince Ching started to meet the court today.

NEGRO HUNT.
Georgians Expect to Hold Another Lynching.

Macon, Ga., Oct. 31.—A young negro named Theodore Booth on the farm of Hon. George D. Perry in Wilkes county attacked Mrs. Daughtry yesterday afternoon. She escaped him and ran to the house, where she seized a revolver and prevented his entrance. Her efforts to defend the neighbors and Booth fled to the swamp. Posses with dogs are now in pursuit. Mrs. Daughtry was not seriously injured. Booth has been reached by the Daughtry family.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.
From Inland Sentinel.

J. Uvella, section foreman at Ducks, accidentally shot himself in the abdomen last Sunday while fixing his gun. He is in the hospital and doing well. In this case it is gratifying to note that in prompt response to Dr. Proctor's request for a special train to convey him to the scene of the accident, Supt. Kirkpatrick telegraphed the Canadian Pacific to place the first locomotive available at his disposal. There has been some complaint in this part of delay in providing medical aid, and a number of men injured at one of the way points along the line, and this prompt action on the part of Supt. Kirkpatrick was not only very greatly appreciated by railroad men, but is an indication that for the future this cause of complaint will be obviated.

TRAIL SMELTER.
One of the Copper furnaces at the Canadian Smelting works has been shut down, but as a lead furnace was blown in at the same time, the fact does not affect the staff at the plant. The smelter is receiving for reduction the output of the famous Trude property in the Larderne. The smelter was shut down for a few days last week, and is now running at full capacity.

Gentlemen: I write this testimonial from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmalene, for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been afflicted with spasmodic asthma for the past 12 years. Having exhausted my own skill as well as many others, I changed to see your sign upon your windows on 120th street, New York. I at once obtained a bottle of Asthmalene. My wife commenced taking it about the first of November. I very soon noticed a radical improvement. After using one bottle her asthma has disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. I feel that I can consistently recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this distressing disease. Yours respectfully,

FEDERAL POLITICS.

The latest morsel of political chatter around Ottawa is to the effect that Mr.
Tarte is about to leave the ministry and accept the leadership of the French Conservatives. It is probably not true, but one or two things have happened during the last year which indicate that the Minister of Public Works is not always absolutely in harmony with his colleagues on all subjects. Do you ask how the Conservatives could take up Mr. Tarte after what they have said about him? Our answer is that we do not believe they will be called upon to do so, but if they were and did, it would not be the most remarkable thing that ever happened in politics.

Intimation has already been given out in a semi-official way, that the programme of work for the ensuing session of parliament will not be large. The session is not expected to open until the second week in February, and this not so much because public business will not permit, as because the alterations and additions in progress in the Parliament Building will not be completed before that time. The two chief matters likely to engage attention, from present indications, are the establishment of new provinces and the inauguration of the fast Atlantic service. Neither of these matters have yet been decided upon, but a series of cabinet councils will be held at which they will be discussed. Is it unreasonable to hope that the ministry will see their way clear to the adoption of some comprehensive plan for the development of Western Canada?

There are thirteen vacancies in the House of Commons, with a prospect of a few more being created. This gives promise of a very lively campaign before the session opens. These vacancies are distributed pretty well over the Dominion, and the result of the elections ought to give a pretty fair indication of the trend of public sentiment. Whether British Columbia will afford an opportunity for such a test remains to be seen. There are also several vacancies in the Senate to be filled.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

Apologies of our reference to certain resorts on the way to Esquimalt, we have been told that propositions are in progress for the transfer of one or more licenses in that locality. We think liquor licenses are put upon a wrong footing in this province. The idea of many people seems to be that a license to keep a saloon confers upon the licensee certain vested rights, which are, in point of fact, a species of property to be protected at all hazards. We have heard gentlemen in the legislature protest very strongly against anything being done that might interfere with the holder of a license. This rule does not apply to other lines of business. A man may spend a large sum of money in fitting up a grocery store. He may pay whatever business license is exacted and contribute his share to the taxes of the community, but no one suggests that he ought to be protected from competition or that the law should be so framed that when he wished to go out of business the goodwill of his trade and his fixtures should be rendered specially valuable by virtue of legislation. There are some people who prefer to stop at a house where liquors are not sold, and if any one should open such a house in a rural district for the accommodation of such people, he would not enjoy any vested right in his business. On the other hand, if some one else started a house next to him and sold whiskey, that individual would be regarded as having acquired some sort of a vested right. If we are to have liquor licenses, and it is apparently not yet possible to do away with them, the licensee should be purely personal, and when the licensee, for any reason whatever, goes out of business, the license should lapse. There is only one line of business which the experience of generations has shown ought to be restricted in point of the number of people engaged in it and be placed under strict police supervision, and that is the saloon business, and we fail to see why the man engaged in it should enjoy any greater privileges than those engaged in pursuits, which can be pursued without restriction and without harm to the community.

NORTHERN DEVELOPMENT.

We gave on Wednesday some information concerning the prospects of the Pelly river district from a mining point of view. The information yet available is indefinite and only very general in its character, but there is good reason to anticipate valuable discoveries next session. The Pelly, we may add for the information of those who are not familiar with the geography of the North, is one of the great branches of the Yukon. The Lewis river, which is what is meant when the Upper Yukon is spoken of, and the Pelly unite at Fort Selkirk to form the Yukon proper. The Pelly rises in the Rocky Mountains in latitude 62 N., and after a course of upwards of 500 miles loses its identity in the Yukon.
To the south of the source of the Pelly are the sources of the Liard, itself a tributary of the Mackenzie, and to the south of the Pelly is Findlay river, which unites with Parsnip river to form the Peace, another great tributary of the Mackenzie. It is within a comparatively short radius of the confluence of the Findlay and Parsnip that the gold fields of Omineca are situated. From the source of the Pelly to the Omineca placers is about 500 miles in a direct line. That is to say, if after having reached Omineca, which is sufficiently beyond civilization, the explorer travels a little north of west for 500 miles, not allowing for deviations from a straight line, he will be at the headwaters of the Pelly, down which he can sail in his canoe for 500 miles until he reaches Fort Selkirk and the great thoroughfare to Klondike. This illustration gives some idea of the vastness of this region, which, from almost every point of view, is a terra incognita to civilized man.

When one sets out to talk of areas in this part of Canada, it is necessary to define what is meant, so we will confine ourselves to saying that the portion of British Columbia and the Yukon Territory, which is drained by the waters of the Peace, the Liard and the Pelly, is larger than France. It is a region of rigorous winters, but not more so than the corresponding latitudes in Europe, namely, that part of Russia lying between Moscow on the south and a line drawn 150 miles north of St. Petersburg on the north.

The boundaries of this great unexploited land are: On the north, Stevart river, and here we know gold is to be found; on the west, Big Salmon, and here we also know gold is to be found; on the southwest, the headwaters of the Stikine, and it is hardly necessary to remind readers that here are the gold mines of Cassiar; on the south, Omineca, with its gold. On the east are the Rocky Mountains, but these are unknown territory. With gold found on three sides of this great area, one may be pardoned for suggesting that when exploration has made its way into the interior other finds of the precious metal will be made.

The conditions of life anywhere throughout this region will, if good means of communication are ever established, be found to be more favorable than those at Dawson. There is undoubtedly a considerable percentage of land that can be tilled in the river valleys. The summers are pleasant and the hours of sunshine are long, without being so long as to be monotonous. The snowfall is probably not excessive, and all through this region there is a notable absence of heavy winds. As far as can be gathered from the limited observations that have been made, the winter is not longer than in Quebec.

We speak of this part of the country today, not to propose that anything shall be done to open it to occupation, but only that Colonist readers may have some idea of the very great magnitude of the problem involved in the development of the North. What has been done in the Yukon Valley is only on the outskirts of a region where the next quarter of a century may witness the growth of thriving cities connected with the rest of the world by more than one line of railway. Northern development has only begun.

THE ALASKAN BOUNDARY.

We learn that the United States authorities are granting mining concessions and otherwise exercising acts of sovereignty in the territory lying between Portland Canal and Behm Canal.
Pending the settlement of the boundary between British Columbia and Alaska, this ought not to be allowed to pass without formal protest. A statement made by Sir Wilfrid Laurier last session was to the effect that the Canadian government might be prepared to concede that Portland Canal of the maps is the Portland Canal of the Treaty of 1825.
If this is to be the case, then no exception can be taken to the occupation by the United States of the Island of Re-villa Gage and the adjacent mainland; but if the intention is to insist when the boundary is finally adjusted, that the only proper interpretation of the Treaty is one that will extend the line from the southern end of Prince of Wales Island up through Clarence Strait until it reaches the mainland at the 50th parallel, some notice ought to be officially taken of what is being done in the disputed area, so that we may not be held to have estopped ourselves as we are alleged to have done in the case of Skagway.

GENERAL BULLER.

A story is cabled from London, which you may believe or not as suits your taste. It is that General Buller was relieved of his command because of the influence of Lady Roberts. It is said that it was her influence with her husband that led to the request to Buller for his resignation, and the story goes on to say that when this request was refused, Roberts and the Secretary of War called upon the King and asked for the dismissal of the General. Now the King has always been very friendly to Buller, they having been, in point of fact, rather chummy. He therefore objected to the proposed step, but both Roberts and Brodrick threatened to resign immediately, and then His Majesty yielded. The correspondent of the New York Herald, who is responsible for the above story, says that Buller has long been a bone of contention in the army. One of the opinions attributed to him is that only young men of certain social position and an income of not less than $1,250 a year should receive commissions. The correspondent also says that nine men out of every ten in the army regard his retirement as just, and certainly if the National Review gave a correct version of his despatch to White, there will be no two opinions on that point. A general, who at that critical time in the progress of the Boer war, would send a despatch directing the surrender of Ladysmith, is undoubtedly unfit for command. His retention in an important post, from which he might reasonably hope to advance to the office of commander-in-chief, would have had a demoralizing effect upon the army. It has denied the authenticity of the telegram, but does not state what he did send. Sir Redvers Buller is in very independent circumstances, although not the rich man he is usually represented as being. His income is stated at £7,000 a year, which, though a very comfortable amount, is not large enough to enable him to be classed with the rich people of the United Kingdom.

It appears to be in order to congratulate Port Angeles upon the immediate prospect of railway connection with the continental system.

In order to get a solid foundation for the new 18-story building of the Mutual Insurance Company of New York, it was found necessary to go down a depth of one hundred feet.

The despatch of additional troops to South Africa is probably the result of the determination to establish settled conditions in the new colonies as well as to prevent disturbances in Cape Colony.
The reoccupation of the Transvaal and Orange River Colony by a civil population renders it imperative that proper protection shall be afforded from marauding parties, and that the tendency of the Boers to violate their oath of allegiance shall be kept in check.

Having been asked by a number of people why the United States Consul has his flag at half-mast, the Colonist asked the Consul, who said that a reference to the columns of this paper would have answered the question, for it was stated about two weeks ago therein that while the United States flag would be flown at the masthead in the United States at the expiration of thirty days after the death of President McKinley, ambassadors, foreign ministers and consuls would keep their flags at half-mast for sixty days.

We have a letter from a correspondent, which is made up of about four-fifths reprint, and would occupy nearly two columns of the paper. It is not news in any sense of the word. It was therefore held over until a convenient season for publication together with a number of other long articles of purely academic interest. Our correspondent appears somewhat indignant because it has not appeared, and writes to say that it is an official document from the organization of which he is president. This puts quite another face on the matter and if he really means what he says, he ought to consult the business office and make the necessary preliminary arrangements for its publication, if he is in a hurry to see it in print.

The Chicago Tribune has a letter from that lively correspondent who writes over the signature "Marquise de Pontigny," in which the relations between the Governor-General and his cabinet are dealt with. The correspondent says that the Duke of Cornwall, when he arrived in Canada, found himself compelled to choose between putting himself in the hands of Lord Minto or in those of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and that he unhesitatingly chose the latter, as being more representative of the people of the Dominion. The correspondent says that throughout the Royal tour in Canada the Governor-General and Lady Minto were noticeably side-tracked at all public affairs, while Sir Wilfrid was given the position of eicerone and companion, and adds that the resignation of Lord Minto may be expected shortly after the beginning of the new year.

OBSOLETE WARSHIPS.

How They Could Be Improved And Made Efficient.

From Engineering.

Since some of our ships now in commission on the Mediterranean were built a striking advance has been made in the power of attack by quick-firing guns and in the power of resistance by armor.
Modern armor is equal to twice its thickness in the compound armor of the Admiral class, while modern guns have greater range and rapidity of fire and flatter trajectories. The total want of protection for the secondary armament of the Admiral class, always a weak point, has become a more grave defect, in view of the increase in power of attack on an unarmored battery by quick-firing guns firing high explosives.
The Admiral class would gain greatly in fighting efficiency if their batteries were protected. To give protection to the batteries weight must be saved in other parts of the ship. In the bar-bettes two pairs of 28-ton guns might be substituted for the 12-in. guns at present mounted. The compound armor on the barbettes should be replaced by a more modern type of less thickness.

Ships of the Admiral type, with the improvements which might be introduced, would be a match for many vessels which will long be retained on the lists of foreign powers. Pursuing a similar policy, the belted cruisers of the Aurora or Australia type should be taken in hand. They have a measured mile speed of 18 knots, and a coal endurance of 8,000 miles at 10 knots. The improvements urgently required are increase of length, more freeboard forward and greater protection by armor on the sides amidships. The necessity for increased length is clearly seen when we look to the French types of approximately similar dimensions. The lengthening of the belted cruisers would render many improvements possible. A large area of side might be protected as in the case of the French Dupuy de Lome, with modern armor. Higher speed would be obtained with the same horsepower. The coal supply would be more ample. The bow might be raised an important advantage in stemming against a head-sea.

FELIX FAURE AND NEWFOUNDLAND

How the Late French President Would Have Settled Much Vexed Question.

From London Times.

Sir,—Why do you continue to support the unpopular government? Do you read no

The Figaro published this morning a final article in the series of "Propos de Felix Faure." The preceding articles dealt mainly with M. Felix Faure's own personality, and they might often be summed up in the famous phrase attributed to Louis XIV.—"L'Etat c'est moi." Today's table talk, however, has its interest for English readers, and we cannot but praise unreservedly the good sense and good faith which M. Felix Faure to resist the stupid hostility of these Frenchmen who have of late utilized their Anglophobia simply as an instrument of their ambition.

[illegible] of any Anglophobe, and I am aware that, like all the rest of us, considering the practical means or realizing their dream, the Anglophobes talk of a future continental coalition against England. They do not see that in the case of such a coalition it is we who would pay the costs of the war with our coasts, our colonies, and our great fleet. If the coalition were congered we again should pay most of the damages. If the coalition were victorious, the German Empire would be the victor, and we would be deprived of an inferior quality, would be the chief, rather than the common

"It is more prudent not to court such events as these. If they are to come we shall be aware of it and there will still be time. Meanwhile I will never lend a hand to a policy which, while putting us on bad terms with England, would rivet us to the German alliance without our being able to benefit thereby. This policy would be that of the ostrich. We must keep the power, when the hour strikes, of choosing our enemies. It is all the easier to maintain this liberty of action, as between us and the English there is no question at issue which cannot be amicably settled.

day serve as a pretext to Europe for the famous continental coalition, but from which we shall never undertake to expel England single-handed—putting aside Egypt which we were wrong not to go and which is a European question, there is not a single

Take, for instance, the question of Newfoundland. There the English are the plaintiffs. They want us to renounce legal rights recognized by an old treaty or London Convention of 1841. I have my own ideas on this subject. They are the ideas that I had as minister of marine and representative of the maritime district. I would say to the English: "You want to abrogate the treaty of Utrecht. Very well; but what we are going to do is to make a new treaty."

to cede to you has a money value. We must indemnify our fishermen, who are to be thus expropriated. The sum will have to be fixed; an average revenue must be capitalized. Now the treaty of Utrecht is abrogated. It no longer exists. The clause compelling us to cede St. Pierre and Mi-forbidding us to fortify St. Pierre and Miquelon accordingly falls to the ground. We shall then begin there any works that we like and establish, if we choose, a safe coaling station in seas where we are utterly without anything of the sort." That is my idea—one which would benefit Newfoundland.

land, England and ourselves, and not burden anyone. I should much prefer it to the vague proposals I have heard of compensations in Africa or Asia. We are secure everywhere save in North America. Here is our opportunity to fortify ourselves there. I should seize it. A treaty defined English sovereignty over Newfoundland and French sovereignty over St. Pierre and Miquelon.

Let us tear up the treaty and each become master chez-soi."

CANADIAN'S INVENTION.

Plans for New Boat Being Made by Professor Emerson.

In regard to the new torpedo boat invented by Professor Emerson of Ottawa, and which is the only one of its kind in the world, the following particulars are given:

Mr. E. F. Dey is preparing plans for a new torpedo boat for Prof. Emerson. The new craft will be larger than the one already successfully tried by the inventor and will run at a higher rate of speed. It will be 45 feet long, with a five-foot beam and three feet deep. The first boat, which had the same width of beam, was only 30 feet long and 21 inches deep. The new craft is to accommodate a 200 horse-power gasoline engine, which it is expected, will enable it to run at the rate of 40 miles an hour. The first boat attained a speed of 20 miles an hour. The latest model, when completed, will approach in dimensions the government models. A practical demonstration of its adaptability to government service can thus be made.

The London Standard says that the rarest virtue of genius is humility. There are numerous instances of the vanity of genius on record, but one of the most astounding is the remark of the Swedish poet and dramatist, Björnstjerne, in Paris, that "There are two men in Europe who possess genius: myself and Ibsen—admitting that Ibsen has it."

HARD COLDS.

People whose blood is pure are not nearly so likely to take hard colds as others.
Physiology goes into reason.
Food's Sarsaparilla makes the blood pure, causing healthy action of the mucous membrane and giving strength and tone to all the organs and functions.
This great medicine recovers the system after a cold, as no other does.

been reported at Rio Janeiro, making a LOSS OF FLESH.

If you find yourself falling below normal weight there is danger. The use of fish oils can temporarily add fat, but will never build up healthy tissues. Dr.
Chase's Nerve Food acts through the blood and nervous system and carries new life and energy to every nook and corner of the body. It regulates the various organs of the body, makes the appetite good, adds healthy flesh, and replaces the tissues wasted by disease.
Naturally and gradually this food cure restores color to the cheeks, increases the weight of the body and thoroughly overcomes disease.

An overwhelming number of the delegates to the Mucosa Federation at Paris, have voted in favor of a strike.
